HISTORICAL STATEMENT.

The Illinois College of Law was organized and incorporated in the year 1897 as an independent College, and for fifteen years maintained an independent existence without university connection.

The College was established by well educated and studious lawyers for the purpose of raising the standards of legal education and preparation for the Bar. The College has at all times maintained the highest standards for its degrees and honors, and the work of instruction has been carried on by a faculty whose members have been distinguished for scholarship and ability as teachers of the law.

In 1912 the Illinois College of Law affiliated with De Paul University and became the Law Department of De Paul University, moving its library and day classes to the University Building, 2201 Osgood street. The evening classes were continued in the downtown district, at 207 South Wabash avenue. The rapid growth of the evening law classes, under university supervision, soon made it necessary to seek larger quarters, and likewise demonstrated the advisability of centralizing other departments of the University in the downtown district. Beginning with the summer of 1915, therefore, both the day and evening law classes, together with certain other departments of the University, were transferred to the Tower Building, Michigan avenue and Madison street.

De Paul University Law School is, therefore, one of the oldest and most useful in the public service of the law schools of Chicago.

The Faculty of the School, after the adoption of Rule 39, by the Supreme Court of Illinois, agreed upon the policy of graduating no student unless his attainments and scholarship were such that in the opinion of his instructors he could easily pass the State examinations for admission to the Bar. Of what benefit is it to students to placard them with diplomas and degrees when they are unfit to pass the first test—the very entrance gate to their profession?

It has been stated many times and is believed to be strictly true and correct, that in comparison with the degree graduates of all other law schools in Chicago or the State of Illinois:

1. The highest percentage of successful candidates in the State Bar Examinations of Illinois is found among the graduates of this Law School taking such examinations, and

2. That a higher percentage of all students graduated with degrees by this Law School have taken these examinations and are now engaged in the active practice of their profession.

LOCATION.

The Law School is located in the Tower Building, Michigan avenue and Madison street. This magnificent fireproof building is in an admirable location for a law school, being right in the center of the business district and within a few blocks of the City, State, and Federal Courts. On the other hand, it is of easy access from all parts of the city.

UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS AND CAMPUS.

De Paul University Campus is located in an agreeable, quiet residence neighborhood on the North Side of Chicago. The University Buildings and Campus occupy the entire block bounded by Webster and Belden avenues, Sheffield avenue and Osgood street.

THE COLLEGE BUILDING is a fireproof structure of Bedford cut stone, six stories in height, covering an area of 68 x 180 feet. It contains the lecture halls, study rooms, library, laboratories, museums, etc., of the Literary Departments. There is a large gymnasium on the top floor. All the lecture rooms are spacious and well lighted. The building is supplied with an elevator and also with the most approved appliances for heating, lighting, and ventilation.

THE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING, 1010 Webster avenue, occupies a ground space of 120 x 80 feet, and is five stories in height. The building contains the public offices and reception rooms of the University.

THE LYCEUM, 2231 Sheffield avenue, is a two-story building, 110 feet in length by 55 feet in width. It contains thirty rooms, all well lighted and comfortable. All students of the University and the Law School are encouraged to become members of the Lyceum Association and enjoy the advantages afforded by its parlors, reception and reading rooms.

THE UNIVERSITY AUDITORIUM OR COLLEGE THEATER, with a ground space of 125 x 113 feet, and a seating capacity of 1,500, is one of the largest and most beautiful auditoriums in the city of Chicago. It is a fireproof building, provided with twenty exits, and wide, divergent aisles. This building is devoted to the entertainments and dramatic productions given by the students of the University, graduation exercises, oratorical contests, public lectures and debates, addresses by distinguished visitors of the University, assemblies, etc.

THE ATHLETIC FIELD is a rectangular field enclosed by a high composition-stone wall. It affords ample room for regulation football contests, baseball, and all outdoor athletic sports. It contains a large grandstand capable of seating seven thousand or more spectators.

THE UNIVERSITY GYMNASIUM is a large hall, 68 x 180 feet, fully equipped with modern apparatus for exercise and indoor games. Law students of the University are encouraged to make full use of all athletic facilities.

THE LAW LIBRARY.

The Law School maintains its own library and reading rooms, open to students and alumni from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. The library is designed especially to obviate extensive purchases by students of books required for collateral reading and the reports of selected cases assigned for class study. The law library now contains over four thousand bound volumes, embracing the United States Supreme Court Reports, the Federal Decisions, the Illinois Reports, the Illinois Appellate Reports, the Illinois Notes and Digest, the Federal and Illinois Statutes Annotated, sets of all the principal Encyclopædiæ, American Digest, most of the Reporter

System, American Decisions, American Reports, American State Reports, Lawyers' Reports Annotated, and a large list of the latest text-books.

A sum equal to two dollars for each regular student enrolled in the Law School is expended annually toward building up the law library.

The school is only one block distant from the Chicago Public Library, and two blocks distant from the John Crerar Library, to both of which students have free access.

Students of the Law School are also permitted the use (subject to certain conditions) of the library of the Chicago Law Institute, located in the Cook County Court House.

The University acknowledges gifts to the law library during the past year from the following persons and organizations: Senior Law Class of 1918, James I. McCarthy '19, Callaghan & Co., The American Law Book Co., William E. Hogan '20, Kappa Beta Pi Legal Sorority, Arthur E. Mayo '11, Clarence A. Newman, C. Morton Doty '11, Phyllis M. Kelley and George A. Broll. Through the efforts of Warvelle Senate, Delta Theta Phi, the following persons made donations: Francis X. Busch '01, E. J. Camit '20, Helen M. Cirese '20, W. F. Foehringer, William M. Haag '18, Edwin G. Hamilton '20, Thomas J. Healy '03, Frederick D. Jordan, Frank P. Kennedy '19, Harry C. Kinne '05, Harry A. Lipsky, Hon. John P. McGoorty, Judge of the Circuit Court, Paul Podell '17, William Reeda '06, Donald J. Seeley '18, Thomas J. Sheehan '19, John J. Simpson '20, Charles J. Trainor, George W. Warvelle, Maurice S. Zeller '19.

SPECIAL ADVANTAGES.

This Law School has many advantages by reason of its location in a large city having extensive commercial interests. Law students have here unsurpassed opportunities for observing the work of the courts in all kinds of litigation. The following courts hold regular sessions in Chicago: United States Circuit Court of Appeals; two branches of the United States District Court, Northern District of Illinois; four branches of the Illinois Appellate Court; twenty judges sitting in law or chancery in the Circuit Court of Cook County; eighteen judges sitting in law or chancery in the Superior Court of Cook County; six or more judges chosen alternately from the Circuit and Superior Courts sitting in the Criminal Court of Cook County; two or more judges sitting in the County Court of Cook County; a Probate Court with one judge and several assistants; a Juvenile Court; thirty-one Municipal Court judges.

The Bar of Chicago now numbers nearly six thousand members. It is here practicable for many law students to connect themselves with the offices of the ablest and most active lawyers of the city, where they may quickly familiarize themselves with the practical details of litigation and the actual conduct of business. The Secretary will assist competent students to make such connections.

To a young man who has been brought up in the country, or in a country town, the city is in itself an education. Here he is brought in contact with a life which is new to him. His ideas of business are enlarged. He sees undertakings involving millions of dollars entered upon and carried to completion as common events of everyday life. He finds people in relations, social, political, commercial, in which he has never before thought of them. As a result of his new environment he is daily accumulating valuable information and experience which will lead him to a better understanding of business and social relations, thereby broadening his horizon and enabling him to comprehend more readily the larger issues of human life and endeavor.

The climate of Chicago is favorable to intellectual exertion all the year round, as the extreme heat of the summer months is much tempered by the breezes from Lake Michigan. The student from outside the city spending his first year here may find frequent opportunities for delightful excursions to the different lake ports.

The city of Chicago is noted for the number and excellence of its schools and colleges for professional education, and for its extensive libraries, art galleries, museums, and like institutions for popular recreation and instruction. This city has become especially attractive as a place for student residence.

METHODS OF INSTRUCTION.

Instruction is given mainly by the study of standard case books. The cases are studied, analyzed, compared and discussed before the class.

The student is taught to discriminate the material facts from the immaterial, the ultimate facts from the evidentiary, and to deduce correct principles; not only to know the law, but the "reason of the law," and to think as a lawyer.

The members of the Faculty generally have had experience in active practice, and are thus well qualified to give invaluable practical suggestions while teaching the theory of law. All instructors in courses in procedure are engaged in active practice at the Chicago Bar.

The curriculum covers every subject and branch of public and private law, and is designed to prepare the student for admission to the Bar of any State. The suggested program of studies given below includes every subject specified in Rule 39 of the Illinois Supreme Court. Students completing this suggested course of study will have had instruction upon the leading common law cases in all of the subjects required for the Bar examinations in this State, and will not be obliged to study and prepare especially for this examination on subjects not taken in their law school course.

A Moot Court sits weekly, where assigned cases are heard and submitted upon oral arguments and written briefs.

Thorough instruction is given in Public Speaking and Debating.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION.

Students may enter at the beginning of any term, but, unless valid reasons impede, they should enter in September. They should not, however, delay their entrance till the day fixed for the commencement of class work. Much valuable time may be saved and inconvenience avoided by making arrangements one or more weeks before the days of registration.

The applicant must be eighteen years of age and of good moral character. The Law School is open to both men and women.

A student entering as a candidate for a degree must furnish satisfactory credentials showing that the applicant is either (1) a degree graduate of a standard American college, or (2) a graduate of an approved high school, or (3) must pass a special entrance examination at this University on the subjects required to constitute the equivalent of a four years' high school course. Students who present satisfactory credentials showing the completion of certain subjects in an approved high school will not be required to pass examinations on such subjects.

Deficiencies in entrance requirements may be made up by courses taken in the Special Preparatory Department of the University.

(One year of academic college work will be required for admission to the Law School in the near future.)

Persons otherwise qualified who have not attained the preliminary high school education required may be admitted as special students, not candidates for a degree.

Students desiring to be admitted to advanced standing must produce certificates from other law schools or colleges showing that they have pursued courses of legal study equivalent to those prescribed in the curriculum of this Law School.

Examinations passed elsewhere are accepted as equivalent to examinations in the same subjects here for purposes of admission only, not for graduation. Examinations for candidates for advanced standing will be held during the first week of each term. No candidate will be examined until after matriculation.

No credit will be given except for work done in residence at an approved law school.

MATRICULATION AND REGISTRATION.

The applicant will be given full details regarding the routine of registration when he applies for admission. He should present certificates of all work completed in high school or college at the time of or prior to registration. Blanks for this purpose may be obtained from the Secretary.

The time of study prescribed by the rule for admission to the Bar examinations in Illinois and other states is counted from the day of registration, and no credit for time will be given until formal registration has been made as required by the rules of the Law School.

No credit will be given for class attendance, nor will the student's name be enrolled by the professor in charge as a member of the class until presentation of the course card, signed by the Secretary, entitling the student to attend the course.

SPECIAL STUDENTS.

Students are classed as (1) Special, not candidates for a degree, and (2) Regular, admitted on examination or certificates as candidates for a degree.

A Special student is one who is admitted to one or more courses without being required to pass the entrance examinations. He must, however, satisfy the Dean of the Faculty that he possesses such academic education as will enable him to make profitable use of the opportunities offered by the Law School. The privileges extended to special students are designed especially for those who entered into business life before completing their high school course, but who are well qualified by age, character, practical experience and mental habits to undertake the study of law.

Special Students are subject to the same regulations as regular students. The system of courses of instruction established and in use in this school offers unsurpassed opportunities for members of the Bar and persons wishing a knowledge of legal principles for commercial or cultural purposes to study special subjects. Persons engaged in mercantile pursuits will find it advantageous to take up those studies which are most closely related to their work, as Contracts, Agency, Partnerships, Sales, Corporations, and Commercial Paper. Some knowledge of these subjects is indispensable to business men of this generation. Certificates will be granted for all work done.

PRE-LEGAL COURSES.

The University opens to law students many of its courses in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, which are of special value in the cultural education of the lawyer. While the University does not as yet require the completion of academic college courses for admission to the Law School, law students are strongly advised to pursue a year or more of such study for cultural purposes before entering upon or contemporaneously with their work in the Law School.

The following pre-legal courses offered by the University are particularly recommended to law students:

Principles of Political Economy, Rhetoric and English Composition, English Language and Literature, Argumentative and Oratorical Composition, Philology of the English Language, Courses in the Latin Language and Literature, Constitutional and Political History of the United States, Constitutional and Political History of England, Philosophy of History, Logic, Ethics, Psychology, History of Philosophy, Sociology.

THE ACADEMIC YEAR.

The university year is divided into two semesters, designated as the First and Second Semesters, of eighteen weeks each, constituting the Regular Session, and a Summer Session ending near the last of August, thus giving a short recess between the close of the Summer School and the beginning of the Regular Session, near the middle of September. Students may enter at the beginning of any term.

ARRANGEMENT OF HOURS.

The Law School is divided into two divisions—Day and Evening. The complete curriculum is offered in each division; the day course covering three years of thirty-six weeks each, and the evening course, four years of thirty-six weeks each. The instructors, books, methods of instruction, and the entrance, attendance, and graduation requirements are practically the same in both divisions. The evening classes have been carried on continuously since 1897, and experience has proved that they are a success. In effect they are merely evening sections of the regular classes and day standards are maintained.

In the Day Division the work is conducted wholly in the morning, from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock, Monday to Friday, inclusive. This arrangement leaves students at liberty during the remainder of the day to prepare their lessons. This is especially advantageous to students who wish to be self-supporting, as they can secure employment in many pursuits which will not conflict with their classroom work.

In the Evening Division all class sessions are held on three evenings (Monday, Wednesday, and Friday) of each week, from 6:00 to 9:30 o'clock, so that the students may have the alternate evenings for study and preparation at home or in the libraries.

Evening students can complete the course in three calendar years by attending the summer sessions.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION.

The courses of instruction in the several subjects generally conclude with the end of the university term and a final examination is held at that time upon the work of the course. All students are required to be regular in their attendance at the class sessions, lectures, and practice court of the school.

The credit value of all subjects is based upon the number of semester hours devoted to classroom work. A semester hour consists of one hour a week of classroom work throughout one semester. Thus, a subject which covers three hours a week of classroom work throughout one semester carries a credit value of three semester hours. A schedule of class sessions for the courses offered will be posted at the opening of each semester.

The University permits one year of law to be counted as the fourth year of college work and confers the appropriate bachelor's degree upon candidates for the law degree who have completed one year in the Law School, thus enabling them to obtain both the academic and the professional degree in six years. No degree in law will be conferred upon any student markedly deficient in English, and no student may receive both an academic and a professional degree or both a higher and lower professional degree in the same term.

LAW DEGREES AND DIPLOMAS.

The regular courses of instruction lead to the degrees of Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.) and Doctor of Law (J. D.).

A certificate setting forth all subjects completed and the time devoted to each will be given to students who do not qualify for a degree.

A certificate of time, which will admit to the State Bar examinations, will be given to all students taking not less than ten hours of classroom work each week.

No certificate of any kind will be issued to a student who is in arrears for tuition fees or other charges.

REQUIREMENTS FOR DEGREES.

Degree of Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.).

1. The candidate must be a graduate of an approved college or high school or have passed a satisfactory examination upon the academic requirements for entrance to the University.

2. At the time of receiving the degree a student must have attained the age of twenty-one years.

3. The candidate must have obtained credit equivalent to eighty-four semester hours (three years' work in the Day Division, or four years' work in the Evening Division), and have attained a grade of 75 on a scale of 100 in each course and an average grade of 85 on a scale of 100 on all work done and on the work of the senior year. He must also have satisfactorily completed the work of the courses in the School of Practice, including public speaking, office practice, and moot court.

7. Every candidate for a degree must submit a satisfactory thesis of not less than 3,000 words on a subject to be approved or assigned by the Dean. The thesis must be typewritten and in hand at least three months before graduation.

8. All fees must be paid at least six weeks before graduation.

POST-GRADUATE DEGREES.

The candidate for a degree must (1) complete at least one year of study in residence; (2) pass a satisfactory examination before a committee of the Faculty on all the subjects offered, and (3) submit a satisfactory thesis showing ability to conduct original investigation and research.

Degree of Master of Laws (LL.M.).

TUITION FEES AND CHARGES.

All fees are due and payable in advance.

1. A matriculation fee of $5.00 is charged every student entering the University for the first time.

2. In the Day Division the annual tuition fee for the Regular Course (14 hours a week) is $100.00, payable in advance; or $110.00 payable in two installments of $55.00 on the first day of each semester; or $120.00 payable in eight monthly installments of $15.00 each.

3. In the Evening Division the annual tuition fee for the Regular Course (10½ hours a week) is $75.00, payable in advance; or $82.50 payable in two installments of $41.25 on the first day of each semester; or $90.00 payable in eight monthly installments of $11.25 each.

4. For special students, and for regular students taking more than the required number of hours per week, the tuition fee is $5.00 for each semester hour, payable on the first day of each semester; or $5.50 for each semester hour if paid in installments.

5. Students who fail to pay their tuition on the first day of the semester will be charged the monthly rate for that semester.

6. A fee of $3.00 is charged for each special examination.

7. A fee of $1.00 is charged for each change of registration.

8. A graduation fee of $15.00 is charged by the University to each student receiving a degree.

9. No reduction in tuition will be made for late entrance or non-attendance.

10. No fees will be refunded, but students who are prevented from attending their classes by reason of illness or other good cause may attend the same courses in any subsequent terms without charge.

For students who began work before May 1, 1918, the fees will remain the same as they were at the time of entrance until June 15, 1920, after which all fees will be charged as described above. Late payment fees, however, will apply to all students.

The University reserves at all times the right to withdraw any course in which less than fifteen students are enrolled.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

A small number of scholarships, each yielding a portion of the tuition fees for the year, are awarded annually to meritorious students in the Law School needing such assistance in return for service in the law library. A preference is given to students of high rank. All applications for scholarships must be accompanied by statements regarding the age, education, occupation, scholarship, and other qualifications of the applicant, made in writing to the Secretary.

SELF-HELP FOR STUDENTS.

A considerable number of students manage in various ways to earn a portion or all of their expenses while in the University. The arrangement of the work of the Day Division in the morning hours only and of the Evening Division in the evening hours only, makes it possible for them to do this without conflicting with classroom work. The needs of a large city afford many opportunities for self-help. A student employment bureau makes systematic efforts to obtain positions for students desiring work.

All inquiries regarding self-help for students should be addressed to the Secretary, 705 Tower Building, Chicago.

PRIVILEGES.

Students in the Law School are entitled to all the privileges of the University.

There is no additional charge (except for a locker fee) for the use of the Gymnasium or the Athletic Field.

Law students may become members of the Lyceum Association upon the same terms as other students.

STUDENTS' CLUBS.

A large number of clubs and organizations formed by the students of the Law School are in a flourishing condition and continue throughout the year. The principal societies are the De Paul Literary and Debating Society; the Webster Debating Society; the Lincoln Debating Society; the Oratorical Association; the three law fraternities, Phi Alpha Delta, Delta Theta Phi, and Phi Lambda Phi; and one legal sorority, the Kappa Beta Pi.
